ELLEN REID: LUMEE'S DREAM

tekst Roxie Perkins

I had my favorite dream last night, the one about us.

In the dream I'm a young golden maiden and your hair is dark like a crow.

We live in a stone sanctuary on top of a hill, outside our window is a great sea. Dark, dark, dark blue water.

Dark blue without a floor.

And I hear them outside waiting, wanting, and I know what I must do for you.

Careful not to wake you, I hurl myself out of the window.

I am copper and feather slicing through the night and no one can see me.

Down I sink like they want me to.

I stay there all night.

At dawn they are done with me.

Exhausted, I pull my dripping body back to our window where I watch you sleep peacefully as I dry.
